WinOLS 1.700 WinOLS.rar.[Zwf-dependent transcription and the role of topoisomerase III in the replication of Escherichia coli DNA]. The activity of the Escherichia coli Zwf protein in the in vitro replication of both natural and model substrates was studied. The Zwf protein copurifies with the nascent single-strand DNA of transcriptionally active E. coli chromosomal DNA. The functional properties of the Zwf protein in the replication of natural DNA are determined by the DNA sequences used for the synthesis and the degree of methylation of the DNA strand. The functionality of Zwf in the replication of both natural and model DNA is shown to depend essentially on the presence of a run of double-stranded DNA. The modification of DNA by methylation has a negative influence on the efficiency of replication. It is shown that the activity of the Zwf protein in the replication of natural and model DNA is comparable. It is established that the Zwf protein is capable of stimulating the replication of E. coli DNA by the reverse transcriptase of bacteriophage T4. The analysis of the formation of the transcription bubble by the hydroxyl radical and the role of the Zwf protein in its formation suggest that during the passage of the transcription bubble through the active site of the enzyme, the Zwf protein promotes the collapse of the transcription bubble into the active form of the DNA polymerase, thereby activating it.Appellant, in support of its "visiting friend" argument, relies upon the case of Commonwealth v. Heller, 323 Pa. 90, 94, 186 A. 303 (1936). The trial court in the instant case found that the allegations of the motion were not sufficient to justify a "detention of the defendant for the purpose of submitting a psychiatric examination. Since the psychiatric examination has been ordered and the parties directed to appear for that examination on January 23, 1974, the resolution of this issue is not now before us. The order of the lower court dismissing the petition is affirmed. Q: Overpass turbo API for getting the number of nodes of
